

Belmont Beacon Temp Parking Lot Project

FCZ Project Number: 0209
(City of Fresno – Permit No. xxx)
Attachment “A”

Project Overview:

Fresno Chaffee Zoo Corporation (FCZ) operates 39-acres at the South-East section of the 148-acre Roeding Regional Park in Fresno, California. This project is part of a temporary parking expansion south of Belmont Avenue that will provide additional parking for both staff and visitors who will be able to access the Zoo through the new crosswalk/beacon. This project will also provide pathways, irrigation, and landscape that will give visitors access to the Zoo from the temporary parking on the south side of Belmont Avenue.

In general, this project consists of but is not limited to a new parking lot on Belmont Avenue, south of the Zoo. This project includes a sidewalk pathway to the zoo including irrigation, landscaping, and fencing. Also included is a beacon traffic control including crosswalk to be coordinated with FCZ and the City of Fresno, CA.

FCZ is open to the public on Monday through Sunday including holidays, and a schedule of Zoo hours including special events throughout the 2018 year accompanies these bid documents.

It is a strict policy that construction cannot disrupt the guests' zoo experience or animal behavior habits. No hauling, deliveries, excessive noises, and other disruptive activities will be permitted when the zoo is open to the public; exceptions may be granted on a case-by-case basis through PM and FCZ approval. Excessive noise is defined as any work activity that has a sound or series of sounds that are considered to be invasive, irritating for guests and/or staff, and disruptive to animals. In environments where exterior ambient noise levels exceed 65dBA CNEL it shall not be allowed and considered intolerable during hours of operation for guests and events. A Noise Mitigation Plan shall be furnished by Contractor with project submittals for discussion and approval prior to start of onsite work.

Employees of companies onsite will be required to wear FCZ provided badges at all times while onsite identifying themselves as trade contractors. Employees of company's onsite will be required to wear PPE including but not limited to safety vests, safety glasses and hard hats at all times. Additionally, FCZ requires the use of company shirts for all employees onsite to easily identify trade workers.

Trade workers shall only eat at the designated Contractor's lay-down area.

Utility Relocation and Protection of existing infrastructure is of Extreme Importance to FCZ. Abandonment of old utilities is not approved and they must be removed as part of the project. As illustrated on the drawings the site has various utilities and it will be a contractual obligation for the Contractor to include in bid the cost to pot hole, relocate or remove, support, and install new utilities – No Exceptions. Utility shutdowns of any nature must be pre-approved by PM and FCZ 5 working days prior to scheduled work activities. This is critical in order not to compromise the varied environments that animals reside in throughout the Zoo.

An area within the project boundaries will be designated as Contractor's lay-down area . Contractor is responsible for providing the security of their belongings and materials, etc. Upon completion of the project, Contractor is to return the site to the same condition as received including removal of all trash, debris associated with construction, etc. unless otherwise directed by FCZ representative. A site survey is required prior to NTP (Notice to Proceed). An additional site survey will be reviewed at the end of project when the punch list is reviewed to insure that everything is returned in like or better condition.

Contractor shall furnish a bid proposal based upon an overall duration of the project of 95 calendar days including the time for mobilization as reflected in the preliminary schedule included with the bid documents.

Contractor shall provide submittals within 21 days from Notice to Proceed and/or Contract to FCZ's PM.
